

KELLY & RYAN BREAUX BRIEF BIO

After Kelly and Ryan Breaux endured the losses of three children over their 18 years of marriage, Kelly was astonished to find a dearth of resources to support bereaved parents. Over time, she and her husband were able to mend and restore their relationship.

The Breaux's found that their marriage had a ripple effect, bringing healing to their extended family. Child loss comes in many different forms, including miscarriage. Support after miscarriage is part of the Red Bird Ministries' work, and for the Breaux's, this is a way of living out the calling to be open to life.

Red Bird Ministries Board of Directors

Ryan Breaux

Vice President

Ryan Antoine Breaux, Vice-President of Red Bird Ministries, has been employed with Lafayette Coca Cola for 24-years. His current position is Key Accounts Manager, where he negotiates contracts for the independent grocery market. He is also a city councilman for District A in the City of Breaux Bridge, where he was born and raised. He has served on several boards and committees in the past, including the lay support committee for Fr. Stephen Pellessier, Vice-President of the Advisory Council at St. Bernard School, and the board at Hospice of Acadiana. His passion and heart are centered on serving and providing works of mercy for those who are suffering.

Kelly Breaux

President

Kelly Bourque Breaux, writer, author, and President of Red Bird Ministries, considers herself a social butterfly. She has a profound gift of gathering others in community and sharing her heart with those who do not see or value their worth. Over the course of the last 20 years, she has held a few different careers, but her greatest joy is her vocation as a mother. She has sat on several boards and committees in the past including the lay support committee for Fr. Stephen Pellessier, secretary for the Advisory Council board at St. Bernard School, a member on the St. Bernard Foundation, and served on the fundraising committee for The Teche Center for the Arts. She loves to use her gift of creativity to make beautiful things for God.
